In 2005, he received the "Bert King Award for Service" from the African American Student Union of Harvard Business School. In 2005, he also was selected as "Chicago United's Business Leader of Color." In 2006, he was selected as one of the "100 Men Impacting Supplier Diversity."

In 2002 Professor Rogers published his first book, The Entrepreneur's Guide to Finance and Business. He has an MBA from Harvard Business School and a B.A. from Williams College.

Marva Williams

Marva Williams has served as a Senior Program Officer for Chicago Local Initiatives Support Corporation since June 2007. She is responsible for planning and implementing programs and services for the Great Neighborhoods Program.

Williams serves as a program officer in four Chicago communities participating in the New Communities Program, a comprehensive community development initiative.

From 1996-2007, Williams was the Senior Vice President of the Woodstock Institute. She is also the coordinator of the CRA Coalition. She is a member of the Community Advisory Council of the Federal Reserve Bank, and is a volunteer with the North Side Community Federal Credit Union. Williams is a member of the National Partnership on Financial Education, which is convened by the Consumer Federation of America, and has served as an adjunct lecturer at University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) College of Urban Planning and Policy Analysis.

Williams was selected by LaSalle Bank to receive the 2004 Tom Gobby Community Leadership Award for her commitment to helping lower-income households access the financial mainstream and develop assets. She was recognized by National Center of Poverty Law for her work on financial literacy and by Illinois Representative Eddie Washington for supporting the establishment of a state community reinvestment policy.

Williams holds a Master of Urban and Regional Planning from the University of Pittsburgh and a Ph.D. in Urban Planning and Public Policy from Rutgers University's Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy.

A Tribute To Jeannie Rennels

In this issue, SURS would like to include a tribute to our fellow co-worker, Jeannie Rennels, who passed away on November 7, 2008. She started working for SURS in 1993 as a Benefits Counselor in the Call Center. While serving in this role, she received such member comments as, “Jeannie exemplifies the true meaning of customer service. She is an asset to SURS.”

In 1995, Jeannie moved to a support staff position in the Mailroom. She was always fast and efficient in getting all of our mail opened and sending it on to the correct department. She sent out UPS and Fed Ex packages and prepared the choice election and member guide packets that are sent out to our members every week. She also contributed to the mailing of monthly annuity checks.

In addition to making sure our members got the information they needed in a timely manner, she was always willing to help out her fellow co-workers, no matter what the cause. Co-workers were always greeted in the Mailroom with her smile, laughter, and positive attitude. Her presence is truly missed. Jeannie is survived by her husband, Don Rennels, and mother-in-law, Helen Rennels. □

Employee of the Year 2008: Mindy Inman

Mindy Inman has worked at SURS since 1988 and is currently the Chief Clerk in the Mailroom. Her friendly disposition, approachable demeanor, commitment to co-workers, and dedication to “getting the mail out” are qualities that make her a role model for the entire organization.

In recommending her for this award, SURS staff noted her positive, can-do attitude. Despite challenges brought about by illness and misfortune to her staff, Mindy did whatever it took to maintain an efficient, dependable operation.

At the same time, she went above and beyond in reaching out to her own staff both as a supervisor and friend to support their own personal needs while welcoming and training temporary staff and juggling her own duties to the benefit of the organization. □

Employee of the Year 2009: Sharon Ingram

Sharon Ingram has worked at SURS since 2001 as a Business Analyst. Prior to that, she worked as a consultant for SURS for nine years. Her work ethic and commitment to co-workers are qualities that make her a role model for the entire organization.

She played a key role in the development of the Lump Sum Distribution Enhancement project. This project is one of the top three priorities for the organization and she has gone above and beyond to keep it on track.

Sharon has the ability to translate what the users need from this program and relay it to the programmers, as well as the ability to convey what information the programmers need from the users to create the best product possible. Most importantly, she maintains a cheerful disposition even in the most stressful situations and has a pleasant attitude that makes it easy for her co-workers to ask for exactly what they need. □
